

COMPANY PROFILE

Sim Net Inc. was incorporated in September 1993. Our goal is to continue to provide quality service and OEM specified replacement parts for all of the Kemath Therapy Simulators functioning today. In 1995 Sim Net acquired all of the Kemath electrical and mechanical inventory, artwork, fabrication drawings, quality assurance test fixtures, part lists, manuals, and all related documentation. The owners of Sim Net are previous long-term Kemath Manufacturing Corporation employees. We were collectively involved in the research, development, manufacture, installation and service of all Kemath Therapy Simulators.

Sim Net is centrally located on the east coast just north of Richmond in Glen Allen, Virginia. We maintain an 18,000 SF facility containing 10 staging bays for remanufacturing simulators and one dedicated room for quality assurance and final system testing. This facility also contains our engineering, replacement parts inventory, quality assurance department, machine shop, paint shop and shipping department.

Service Department - Sim Net's service department has more experience than any other service department in the world on Kemath Therapy Simulators. Our service department currently supports 200 Kemath Therapy Simulators either in or outside the USA. We can provide service maintenance agreements, emergency service, relocations, and OEM specified replacement parts. We can handle any service problem that you may have on a Kemath Therapy Simulator.

Sales Department - Sim Net's sales department can assist you in supplying information on leasing, relocating, trading in, or purchasing remanufactured Kemath Therapy Simulators. (Call for a quotation)
